THE INDEPENDENT PRESENTS PRIZE AND MONEY CAMPAIGN

LIBERAL RALLY AT GRIMSBY

Campaign Issues Discussed In Stirring Addresses — Liberal
Victory Forecast.

The issues of the campaign were forcefully and trenchantly dealt with at a Liberal Rally held in Snettinger's Hall on Saturday. A. G. Sampson, editor of the Halifax Chronicle was among the speakers, his address being characterized by vitriolic references to Hon. Mr. Stevens while Denton Massey also came in for attention. Others who addressed the meeting were the candidate, A. E. Coombs, Mrs. Greenwood, Jos. J. Bench and Thos. Marshall, ex M. P. for Lincoln West.

Mr. Marshall who was the first speaker, stressed the desirability of the Liberals being given a clear majority over all other parties, there being no question but that the Liberal party would have the largest following. The policies of the party were not those of any man but were representative of all sections of the country. On the contrary Mr. Stevens came out with a platform and his followers must accept it and take his views. Bennett and his followers had ruled Canada for five years during which unemployment had increased and the average man had no money to buy and can't sell his labor, there being no export markets. One of the first things that King would do would be to correct that and with nearly all provinces Liberal there was a splendid opportunity to get together if the Liberals were returned to power.

He paid a high tribute to Mr. Coombs as a splendid type of citizen. Mrs. Greenwood who introduced Mr. Coombs also alluded to his high qualifications for the efficient discharge of the duties of a representative of the riding. She urged the electors to return the Liberal party which had a background of sane administration during the nine years it was in office.

The candidate, Mr. Coombs, in the course of a forceful address read a letter he had received from Hon. Mr. King with reference to reasonable tariffs in which attention was directed to the fact that in his radio address of August 2nd no reference was made to the abolition of reasonable tariffs or to the abolition of any features of tariff legislation and administration as they existed when the previous Liberal government was in office. Mr. King further pointed out that in the Dunning budget of 1930 there was provided for the first time a reasonable tariff on fruits and vegetables. "These reasonable tariffs have remained a feature of Canadian Customs Laws up to the present time and to them the Liberal party naturally

Grape Crop Will Be 50 Per Cent. Of Normal Output

The grape crop from a survey based on actual cutting will be less than 50 per cent. of normal, Jack Challen, secretary of the Grape Growers' Association reported following an executive meeting last week. Delegates present from all sections of the grape belt presented reports on conditions in their district. From these reports it was apparent that the blues would be under 50 per cent., far less than earlier estimates published in the press. Reds and whites will also be considerably down from estimates made earlier in the season. Only when cutting is completed will it be determined how far out estimates were.

Harry Clark, an employee at a local factory received a cut which required five stitches to close when he was struck on the hand by a heavy wrench and was attended by Dr. J. H. MacMillan. It is said that an argument arose between the two men which resulted in the alleged throwing of the wrench.

Coming Event

Mayor McPherson To Retire From Municipal Council

On being queried by a representative of The Independent as to his intentions in regard to standing for office at the approaching municipal nominations next month, Mayor McPherson who this year completes his second term in that position, definitely stated that it was his purpose to retire at the conclusion of the year. Having served in the council for a number of years during which he has devoted much time and effort to the town's interests he has decided not to again be a candidate for office, feeling that there are other citizens who could competently carry on the work of the council and who should place their services at the disposal of the municipality.

Mayor McPherson who assumed office four years ago first served as a councillor during which he was chairman of the Board of Works. The past two years he has held the office of Mayor, being returned at the last election by acclamation. He has also been a member of the later Commission and the Public Library Board for the past two years by virtue of his position.

During his term of office Mayor McPherson has given able and diligent service to the municipality. He has endeavored in every way to promote the town's interests, and has been ever ready to associate himself with organizations having for their object the welfare of the community.

AWAY BACK WHEN By FRANK FAIRBORN, JR.

Grimsby Lawn Bowling Club's big Fruit Tournament, held two weeks ago on the local greens, was the largest ever held by the club. In fact it was one of the largest tournaments ever held in Ontario, in point of numbers of players participating.

Among the many interested spectators who witnessed the play throughout the afternoon and evening was a gentleman who, without a doubt, knows more about the history of bowling and its development in the Fruit Belt than any other man. I refer to Mr. William Flett, Sr., of Main street west, now a man in his middle 80's, but retaining all his faculties and just as active as many a man 20 years his junior.

Mr. Flett a native son of Scotland played the game of bowls in the old land and as a young man had helped in the construction of several greens. Some 37, or 38 years ago the late Jack VanDyke in his travels about the country came in contact somewhere with the game of bowls and decided that he wanted a bowling green of his own. He called in Mr. Flett and work was started. This green was laid out behind the old Lincoln House (now Hotel Grimsby) and was the first lawn bowling green in the peninsula. Mr.

Final Tribute Paid At Funeral Of Beamsville Chief

The remains of Police Chief Ernest Jubilee were borne to the grave on Tuesday, Sept. 25, with all the honors that could be meted out to one who was held in high esteem by all connected with law and order enforcement in the Niagara peninsula, and the residents of the town. A guard of honour was contributed by Chief of Police Shannon and twenty members of the St. Catharines police force, under Sergeant Brown.

Services at the home on Lincoln avenue were conducted by Rev. A. De Rose, of Knox church, and Rev. Stuart Woods, a former minister of St. An.

COUNTY JOINS IN APPEAL

To Co-Operate With St. Catharines In Appeal Re Widening And Straightening Highway Between Hamilton And Falls.

The Lincoln County Council in session Thursday afternoon decided to join St. Catharines in an appeal to the Ontario Department of Highways for the straightening and widening of highway No. 8 between Hamilton and Niagara Falls.

The city's case was presented before the county fathers by Major N. J. M. Lockhart, Ald. H. M. Rogers, F. G. Coy and P. A. Wilson. As a result of the conference it was decided to send a joint deputation to Toronto to interview the Minister of Highways in the matter. The county council named the special roads committee as their delegates. The date for the interview has not been set.

Council adopted the report of the assessment committee which appointed Chairman H. G. Mogg and Warden E. B. Osborne a committee to go to Toronto to interview H. L. Cummings, deputy minister of municipal affairs, re speeding up a decision in the appeal of Merrittion from the equalized assessment of the county.

The cost of vocational education under a proposed amendment to the school act, making all pupils taking vocational course county pupils, will be investigated. The chairman of education, Reeve Wm. Nesbitt, was instructed to secure detailed information as to present costs and estimated costs under the proposed change.

Council left Mr. H. Allowance Commission appointments until the October session.

The October session will be held on the 15th, the day after election. There was some good humored comment relative to the date and a change was suggested, but when the question was put the regular meeting date was upheld unanimously. Warden E. B. Osborne, Reeve of Beamsville, presided over the session.

Hunt And McLean Open Branch Law Office In Grimsby

Messrs. Hunt and McLean, barristers and solicitors of Hamilton have opened a branch law office here above the Dominion Stores on Main Street. Their office will be open every afternoon and will be conducted by Mr. Montague McLean.

Mr. McLean graduated from the Law School at Osgoode Hall over a year ago, being called to the bar with honours and awarded the Matthew Wilson Memorial Scholarship. He has had considerable court experience since that time and recently successfully defended Dawson Maracle, a young Indian brave, charged with murder at Simcoe.

Military History Of Don Cossacks — Appear In St. Catharines, Oct. 12

The personnel of the Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus which will be heard in St. Catharines Collegiate Auditorium, on Saturday, October 12, is composed of former officers of two Don Cossack Regiments — the 10th commanded by the renowned General Krassnoff now exiled in Paris, and known in America for his book "From Doyble Eagle to Red Flag", and the 13th commanded by the ill-fated General Wrangle who tried to stem the Bolshevik invasion of south Russia — the region of the Don — and suffered disastrous defeat.

After the Russian debacle in 1917 the 10th Regiment was so decimated that it was merged with the 13th. This latter organization was composed of younger men hurriedly drafted to fight the Bolsheviks. After two years of the most brutal struggles against overwhelming odds, Wrangle's entire army including the 13th regiment, was forced into the neutral country of Turkey where they were interned in a prison (Tcherling) camp just outside Constantinople. Cholera and starvation took a heavy toll before the survivors were transferred to more agreeable surroundings in the Island

The very worst that any one can do is to be paid off in real money.

This campaign offers an opportunity to everyone on exactly the same basis. No special qualifications are necessary. The campaign is not intended to attract high-pressure salesmen, or, in fact, salesmen of any kind. It is designed for the benefit of the inexperienced person, man, woman or child, without the benefit of any previous training.

- Open Letter From The Publisher -

DEAR FRIENDS:—

We are pleased to announce in this issue full details of a subscription campaign which this publication is about to launch, complete particulars of which will be found on pages four and five of this week's Independent.

The primary reason for instituting the campaign at this time is to indicate our belief that the years of depression are now being succeeded by a period of welcome and long awaited prosperity for our district and the desire to place our publication in a position to render the service which it is endeavoring to render to the community.

By placing the Independent in homes which have been without it, we believe it will serve to more firmly knit together our community. Greater circulation means, of course, greater coverage for prospective advertisers who will more readily patronize a newspaper with a wide home circulation, and additional advertising will make possible a bigger and better paper.

In all friendliness we ask your co-operation in this drive. Many men and women who will enter this campaign as candidates will be our accredited representatives for its duration. We bespeak for them such co-operation as you can readily give, and we thank you in anticipation of the courteous hearing that the people of Grimsby and vicinity are ever willing to give representatives of worthwhile endeavours.

GRAPE GROWERS ENTER PROTEST

Will Make An Appeal Direct To
Premier Hepburn Re Grape
Price.

Grape growers of the Niagara peninsula will make their appeal direct to Premier Hepburn and have ignored an invitation of E. G. Odette, liquor control board commissioner, to discuss with them the offer of a number of independent wineries to fix a price of $50 a ton for grapes on condition they will be allowed to open two stores instead of one as at present for their outlet, it was reported on Monday.

The decision of the grape growers to await the return of Premier Hepburn in urging the government to adopt the new policy of permitting smaller independent wineries to open two stores in return for fixing a standard grape price is an aftermath of a disagreement with Mr. Odette last year, it is said.

It was then claimed that Mr. Odette had reached an understanding with the growers regarding the price which wineries must pay for grapes on penalty of having the liquor control board refuse to sell their products. They asserted that Mr. Odette did not live up to his promise.

When the matter was taken up some weeks ago with Premier Hepburn the latter agreed to consider the proposal and as a result of this Mr. Odette is understood to have offered to hear the proposals and make a decision.

His offer has been turned down by the grape growers, and an appeal will be made directly to the Premier, it was announced at the parliament buildings Monday.

Splendid Exhibits At Smithville Fair Held On Saturday

Among the various features were a school singing competition, a baby show, a tug-of-war, between a team of horses and eight men and races. Fine entries of cattle and horses were exhibited although only two horse races were run off.

Sportorially Yours

(By Ian Murdoch)

Hello again! Frost's in the air once more. So's Maxie Baer! The N.H.L. moguls held one of their get-togethers Saturday. Kilrea to Detroit for seven grand. Hockey's coming but rugby's here. Ferraro to don yellow and black striped sweater again and win some games for somebody's Ambitious city. Varsity walloped Balm Beach laddies sumptin terrible last week. Tigers won over Roughriders. Heard somebody say, "a afumbly game". Somebody (same one) sampling Silver Spire! Both teams put on juggling acts on the run and pyramid formations on the line that would have done credit to The Seven Zouaves Seven, the Five Fumbling Fitzgeralds and The Numerous Magrees. Now that Baer is definitely "out", McEwen draws attention to the world heavyweight championship bout between Pierre Charles and George Godfrey in Brussels. Both participants, the winner being recognized as big shot by the Daffy International Boxing Union, have been training for weeks. Godfrey in a wheel chair and Charles in a straight-backed rocker. Charles learned his falling technique from his close study of the rocking chair.

Idle thoughts — Local high school entered in Cossia rugby for first time in last three or four years, if announcement from St. Kitts is correct — grouped with Saltfleet and Beamsville — Beamsville's team of last year graduated en bloc leaving a batch of midgets and a couple of bigger guys who have played but little — Saltfleet never did seem to have a good team — see you in the play-offs against Jimmy Bates' boys over Burlington way — pretty heavy team at the Bolton avenue institution this year — the two McLeans are just about what the team needed to "go places" — Buchanan's captain again — too bad some of the fair sex up there wouldn't get to work and get together on some really original yells — why not "Tkey, Tkey"?

More rambling gab—Wotta man, wotta man! Chap by name of Cooper up Stoney Creek way cleans up with 14 fruits and coasted in on the senior championship. He should go a long way on the cinder track. Red, white and black supporters should have chance to cheer in earnest at Beamsville Friday at interscholastic. Of course, that is if the athletes get in and fight for the dear ol' alma mater. Celebrating the expected victory, a good many of the track team supporters are going to land up in the Oddfellows hall Friday night at the 20th Century Club dance. See you there. Murray Smart, elongated Smithville stude, won senior championship out there the other day. Watch him in the sprints and jumps. There's a brother, Stanley, who will also bear watching. Congrats to Bill McNiven, Murray McLean, Kay Fisher and Jean Boyd for cleaning up on Bolton avenue Monday. Orchids to the others who furnished competition, chief among whom were Don Smith, Perry McLean, "Borneo" Hills, Doris MacBride, Francis Jarvis and Marg. Sims.

Comparing times, etc., of Grimsby and Beamsville schools; local sr. boys did hundred in 11 flat and two-twenty in 25 seconds, while Beamsvillites took 12½ for the hundred and 31.3 for the longer dash. Green and gold did 14 foot six in running broad while Murray McLean did 18 foot 1 inch here. Perry McLean lacked exactly six inches of doing double what the seniors did down east in the pole vault event. No kiddin'. The winner did five foot even. But look, big guy down there heaved twelve pound shot 37 feet while Grimsby's best was three foot eight less. Let's see what the girls can do. Ouch! Francis Richardson and Beulah Martin tossed out a count of 179 in the senior 2½ minute throw and catch. Grimsby's high count was away down. Enough's enough, I can't stand any more of it. Beamsville girls look as if they will walk away with everything in sight.

Hunter was much appreciated by the young people.

BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE AT WINONA

One of the oldest barns in the district, which had been turned into an implement and fruit shed, owned by George Lewis, of Winona, was completely destroyed by fire about 1:45 Sunday afternoon. The smoke was first discovered from a pig pen attached to the barn, but it is a mystery how the fire started. Three thousand baskets and four thousand covers, as well as practically all of the implements, were destroyed, the estimated loss being $1,500, which is partly covered by insurance. Much praise is due to the Stoney Creek fire brigade, which made the run of almost five miles in 4½ minutes. Through their untiring efforts they were able to save Mr. Lewis' residence, as well as the tenant house and drive shed. The barn was built by a great grandfather of Mr. Lewis.

TAKE APPLES FROM ORCHARD FINED $10 AND COSTS

Charles Stanton, aged 67 years, George Morgan, 4 years, William Marshall, 48 years and James Addison, 35 years, all residents of Toronto, pleaded guilty in magistrate's court, Hamilton on Monday before Magistrate James McKay to a rather "boyish" offense — stealing apples from an orchard.

Harry Sturch of Vinemount from whose orchard the apples were taken testified in court that he saw the men in his orchard after they had parked their cars. The quantity taken consisted of about half a bushel.

"I took a few apples and kid-like tossed them into the basket. If that's theft then I'm guilty," Mr. Stanton told the court.

"That's theft," His Worship told the four.

They were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

WALKER—MIDDAUGH

An attractive autumn wedding was solemnized at two o'clock on Thursday last in the Manse of Beamsville Presbyterian Church, when Violet Marjorie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Middaugh, became the bride of Robert Frederick, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Walker, all of Beamsville. The bride, attended by her cousin, Miss Freida Griffin, of Smithville, looked lovely in a gray swaggar suit with blue accessories. The bridesmaid wore a blue gown with trimmings to match. The best man was Wilfred Middaugh, brother of the bride. Rev. Dr. Currie conducted the ceremony. Following a short wedding trip, the young couple will reside on the groom's farm in Clinton Township.

Nearly 900 To Contest 245 Seats In Federal Election

Almost 900 candidates, all but a scattered few from five major parties, will contest the 245 seats in Canada's House of Commons on Oct. 14.

Nominations were held Monday in only 76 ridings, but the field swelled to 294 as the new parties — Reconstruction, Co-operative Federation and Social Credit — named candidates across the country.

Nominations for the other 169 seats will be held next Monday.

Liberals named 76 candidates, Conservatives 68, the C.C.F. 56, Reconstruction 37, Social Credit 36 and other groups a total of 21. Social Credit, which swept into power last month in Alberta under the leadership of William Aberhart, made a big stand in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Liberal Leader Mackenzie King entered the field in Prince Albert north-east Saskatchewan riding which has sent him to the last three parliaments. Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction leader, was nominated in Kootenay East. Each has four opponents, including Social Credit.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett will be nominated next Monday in Calgary and J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the C.C.F., in Winnipeg North Centre.

Lincoln Game Assn. Guarding Young Fish Placed In Creeks

Co-operation of farmers is asked by St. Catharines and Lincoln Game and Fish Protective association in guarding the thousands of young fish which this summer have been "planted" in the Twelve Mile creek and at Jordan harbour by the association, supplied by the government hatcheries at Mount Pleasant and Sarnia.

Officers of the association point out that poachers can quickly undo the good work of the government and the association.

The Twelve Mile creek, which now is part of the oldest Welland canal, was at one time famous for its trout, but of late years fishermen say there has been practically no trout fishing in Niagara peninsula.

The greatest fear is for the bass planted in Jordan harbour. These new fish, five or six inches long, will, it is thought, be a great temptation to poachers and will require much watching.

A thousand large-mouthed bass have been placed at Jordan harbour; 10,000 yellow perch eggs and 12,000 speckled trout in the Twelve Mile creek. The pickered eggs have hatched well and the young fish are reported to be thriving splendidly.

"If the boys are content to wait for a couple of years we will have as fine game fishing in this section as anywhere in the province," said Henry Nicholson, secretary of the Protective association.

FARMER IS HURT

Forgetting to unhitch a tug of the harness from the whiffletree on the hay rake he had been using, east Joseph Flis, a farmer on the mountain, near Stoney Creek, a broken leg and sent him to the hospital last week. The Hydro employees while working near his farm hearing cries coming for help rushed over and found the man helpless with a broken leg, having been struck with the rake just before the ankle. He had to unhitch one tug, the result being that when the harness walked away the tongue swung around hitting him on the leg. He was loaded in the Hydro truck and taken to the hospital.

OPENING MEETING OF A.Y.P.A.

About 30 members of St. Andrew's A.Y.P.A. attended the opening meeting for the coming season held last Wednesday night, Miss Madge Croft presiding. Cora Neale was appointed corresponding secretary. It was decided that instead of holding devotional meetings the society will attend church in a body once a month alternating between the 8 a.m. Communion, the 11 o'clock service and the Evensong. A "work" night will replace the devotional meeting, keeping intact the four-fold program of music and literary athletic work and social meetings. Arrangements were made to send five delegates to the provincial A.Y.P.A. conference in Windsor next month. Three groups were formed and will carry on the work the same as last year. Following the business meeting, refreshments were served in the basement of the hall.

Grapes To Benefit From Recent Rains

The grape crop of the Niagara fruit belt will benefit from the rain, even at this late stage, growers report.

While the grape crop in the eastern section of the peninsula is less than fifty per cent of normal this year, the western portion shows better returns according to a survey in that area. The production in the western section will not, however, be as heavy as last year, due to the lack of heavy rains during the past three months.

The bunches of grapes and the individual berries are not as large as last year, but are greater in their content of sugar and juices, which is a decided factor in the manufacture of wines. The drought has prevailed longer in the eastern area and the growers have had to contend with the poorer crop in this locality.

"To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example, is our proper debt to Him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that He has done. Outward worship is but of itself sufficient to express love and heartfelt gratitude."

—Mary Baker Eddy.

WIND BLOWS TRUCK ACROSS ROAD

A hurricane-like gale prevailing shortly after sundown Monday evening near the foot of the mountain on highway No. 20, caught a delivery truck belonging to G. W. Robinson Co. and driven by Carl Andrew Smith, 991 Main St. East, Hamilton, as it travelled north, picked it up and threw it across the road, turning it over in its flight as if made of paper. The driver, proceeding cautiously on account of the high wind, had just crossed the bridge over the T. H. & B. railway when a gust of wind struck the truck, threw it over, broke the doors and distributed radios and washing machines over the pavement. Luckily, Mr. Smith escaped with only minor injuries.

CARS SKID

A Grey Coach Lines bus landed in the ditch on one side of the highway and a car driven by Lloyd Montgomery went into the ditch on the other side, Monday evening, when Mr. Montgomery's car skidded on the wet pavement and crashed into the side of the bus. Considerable damage was done to both machines, but no one was hurt in the accident, which tied the traffic up for some time. The accident happened near the Fruitland monument.

To Abolish "Death Traps", Jordan Bridge And Bad Curve on No. 8

The two old "death traps" of highway No. 8, the Jordan bridge and the curve at the base of the Sixteen Mile hill, are to be abolished. Tenders were closed in Toronto on Saturday for the reconstruction of a new bridge at Jordan. The new bridge will be 30 feet longer than the present one and will be two feet lower, thus taking off the bump at either end of the bridge. The new structure will be approximately 30 feet wide and will be supported by one large span and two small spans.

- Learn All About It -

The purpose of the "Everybody Wins" Subscription Campaign is to increase the sphere of influence of this paper, so that news of local happenings will be broadcast far and near thereby giving valuable publicity to our town, which should result in increased prosperity to all. It will also increase the advertising value of your paper, bringing increased trade to local merchants thereby assuring that they can offer you better and ever better value.

Our objective will be accomplished by securing advance subscription payments from old and new subscribers, and securing payment from present subscribers who may be now in arrears.

The "Everybody Wins" Subscription Campaign invites men and women in all walks of life: boys and girls, whether employed, at school, or at leisure, to devote what time they can to the campaign with the assurance that every candidate must be successful and will be rewarded in a substantial way. There can be no losers in this campaign; everybody wins.

Please do not confuse this campaign with any other that may have come to your attention. Personal appearance, popularity, guessing or chance, have no place whatever in this campaign which will be decided entirely on results. Ability, energy, personal appeal, friendship and other factors, all may play their part, but all necessary qualifications are merely those that are possessed by everyone, so that everyone has an equal chance.

A deciding factor will undoubtedly be the DESIRE TO WIN. The person possessing this qualification in the highest degree will undoubtedly emerge the winner. It has been said that a person can get anything or do anything if he only wishes for it strongly enough, and the truth of this has been proved many, many times; so that the first thing to do on entering the campaign is to create that DESIRE TO WIN feeling. Once having created it, increase it to such an extent that your desire to win is stronger than a similar desire that others may have and if you do that, YOU WILL WIN,—nothing on earth can stop you.

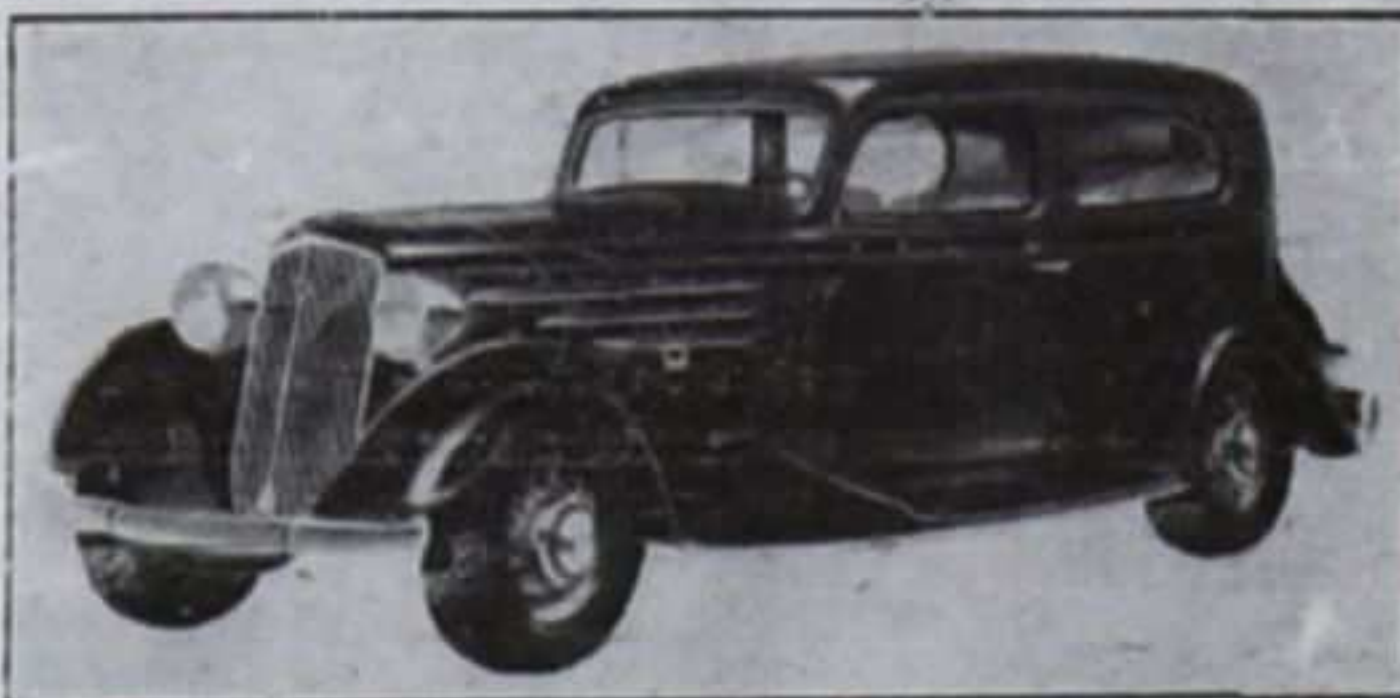

After securing your first 5,000 votes by filling in the entry blank, your natural desire is to increase your number of votes as quickly as possible. This is accomplished by clipping the vote coupons which appear on every issue of your newspaper. You are not restricted in any way in the number of votes secured in this manner; your friends will gladly save them for you. Start at once, before some one else has secured them instead of you. Each of these vote coupons adds 100 votes to your total if secured from this week's issue of the newspaper; and next week these coupons will be worth only 50 votes; the week following they will be reduced to 10; and after that they will not appear again. These vote coupons must be turned in to the campaign office within one week from the date of issue of the newspaper.

After having secured all the votes you possibly can by clipping coupons, you will find that you will make much quicker progress by selling new subscriptions to your newspaper, or getting renewals, from people who are at present subscribers; these early subscriptions increase your total very rapidly, as you will see by reading the vote schedule printed herewith.

CAMPAIGN OFFICIALLY OPENS OCTOBER 1st

No more attractive major prizes have ever been offered anywhere in a newspaper competition:—

FIRST—A brand new motor car, fully paid for, including license.

SECOND—A return trip to England at a season when the Old Country is at its best.

THREE, FOUR, FIVE AND SIXTH Prizes are in cash and will be of an importance that will bring a smile of satisfaction to the human desire we all have for big sums of ready cash.

From the sixth onward all candidates will be remunerated in proportion to the results they are able to secure; that is, a cash commission, paid every week during the campaign.

This Subscription Campaign is open to men and women, boys and girls, residing in Grimsby or surrounding territory. Every candidate will emerge a winner. Those not fortunate enough to secure one of the awards will be paid cash for their part in the campaign. Everybody wins; but the candidate who has the greatest desire to win will be awarded the major prize; nobody loses—everybody wins.

THE ENTRY FORM IS BELOW

Tear off this entry blank now; fill in your name and address, and bring it here to the newspaper office at once. R 7 AND CLOSES NOVEMBER 23 [SEVEN WEEKS]

READ THIS ANNOUNCEMENT CAREFULLY—this is your opportunity; understand it thoroughly and take immediate advantage of the fortunate occurrence that may not come your way again. This is a campaign where everyone starts off on an equal footing. Everybody wins; there can be no losers. When next Monday rolls around the campaign is on; others are already planning on how to win the motor car or other awards. If you are not to give others any advantage, you, too, should start at once. The campaign will last for seven weeks, but an early start is most important because coupons that are clipped and subscribers that are secured during the early part of the Campaign have a much higher vote value than those secured later on; and it is plain that what is secured now by another candidate, cannot be secured by you at a later date.

As between the hare and the tortoise, everyone's sympathy is with the tortoise for he makes an immediate start and keeps on moving along allowing nothing to deflect him from his course. He has the DESIRE TO WIN from start to finish, whereas, the hare allows several other desires to interfere with his progress with the result that we all know.

An immediate start, then, is most important. Start now and keep at it. Then nothing can stop you from emerging victorious with your slogan: THE DESIRE TO WIN.

This campaign is open to all except employees of this newspaper.

The winner, and ultimate standing of all competitors will be decided by a Board of Judges to be announced later, and will be based upon the results of candidates which are to be in the form of votes secured through the vote coupons in this newspaper, new, paid-in-advance subscriptions, and cash collections. Where you live is of no consequence, the campaign is open to everyone.

There is no advance in rates during this campaign; the subscription price of this paper will be exactly the same as it has been in the past.

Every candidate must stand squarely on his own efforts. He should not receive assistance in any form from another candidate; but he may receive all possible help from anyone not participating in the campaign, for in that case it is assumed that it is due entirely to his own efforts. Any collusion between candidates may be the cause of disqualification.

The vote coupons, which appear in this newspaper, and will appear in later issues, must be turned in within one week from the date of the issue. All other votes can be turned in at any time at the discretion of the candidate.

All candidates, for the duration of the campaign, are authorized by the publisher of your paper to make collections, but each candidate must be personally responsible for all money collected, and will turn in such collections on the report nights to be designated.

The publisher cannot accept any responsibility for any statement or promise made by a candidate to a subscriber or possible subscriber, unless such statement or promise is covered in this announcement.

Making good the promise that everyone wins, each candidate will be paid a commission of twenty percent of all subscription money collected by him and turned into the campaign office. These commissions are payable at the end of each week.

At the discretion of the campaign manager, if a candidate has been shown to be sufficiently inactive or apparently disinterested, or guilty of irregularity of any kind, he may be disqualified from the campaign, and forfeit any possible claim to any award other than the twenty percent commission above referred to; this he will be entitled to regardless of any eventualities.

It is understood and agreed that the winners of major awards cannot receive both the prize and the commission. They will rebate to the campaign manager all commissions secured before their awards can be given them.

To prevent the slightest possibility of any known leak that might conceivably help any candidate, a sealed ballot box to which no one will have access until the campaign has been concluded, will be placed in a local bank during the final week and all votes will be placed therein by each competitor. On the conclusion of the campaign the seals of the ballot box will be broken by a Board of Judges and the final count made by them. In this way it will not be possible for any one to have any information regarding the actual standing of any or all candidates. Report nights of the campaign are every Tuesday, Thursday & Saturday night and 5,000 extra votes will be given each candidate every time he makes his report on these specified nights.

25,000 extra votes will be credited to each candidate for every five year subscription, or payment of arrears, the same value turned in during the first week of the campaign. During the third week of the campaign 12,500 extra votes will be given for a like amount.

Every candidate who has earned $50.00 or more during the first week of the campaign will be given a bonus of $25.00 cash.

The publisher guarantees absolute fairness and impartiality to all candidates. Any difference or any possible difference of opinion as between candidates and publisher will be decided by the management of the campaign.

All candidates agree to abide by all conditions here set forth.

SYNOPSIS
Joan Denby of humble origin, is introduced as a social equal of Miss Georgia La Fontaine, rather than as her secretary. She meets Piers Hanner, millionaire, who forces his attentions on her. Lord Edwards proposes to Joan.

Joan leaves Miss La Fontaine to become a mannequin at the Salon Celeste.

"Oh, I can't! I couldn't marry you, really!"

He looked at her hard for a moment, and then asked quietly:

"Joan if I took you in my arms and kissed you now, what would you do?"

She glanced round hastily to see that there were other people about, and said at last, faintly:

"I think I'd die!"

"Oh," he said, "I see."

He rose and stood by the bench, and while she wondered what was going to happen next, he took a cigarette from his case and lit it.

Then he looked down at her, and his voice when he spoke was very grim:

"If that is how it is," he said, "I would rather you died in my arms than in those of some other man!"

She saw that nothing was gained. She fancied, indeed, that something was lost; because his tractable mood when he had been trying to reason with her had when it was possible to reason with him, had vanished.

He was grimly cheerful; he attempted no more discussion. When the ferry boat arrived at the East bank he marched her off it, with one hand gripping her arm, as though he had been marching her to jail.

"Lovely evening we've had!" he said, as he walked her back to the car. "To think that other people go to Maidenhead and spend fortunes in road houses, when they could go to Woolwich and have as delightful an evening as we have had!"

When they drove away through the maze of the dingy streets he said:

"I've a passion for the old River Thames. There's something about the air on it which clears the mind. All the fog of sentiment and pleasure out of one to join the other fogs, I suppose, along the river!"

Joan glanced at him uneasily. He was just as he had been at Cannes during that drive into the hills when he had refused to turn back, only now he was even grimmer.

"I'm glad to hear that it has made you more reasonable," she said in a light, friendly tone, trying to make out what he meant now.

"More reasonable, more cunning, more unscrupulous in finding ways to get what I want and mean to have!" he replied with cold emphasis, and her heart sank.

When they arrived at Hooley Street he pulled up the car at the corner, and escorted her on foot over the excavations to the door of the Denbys' house. He had her goodnight in tones of polite detachment, and left her there, without another word.

Very tired, bewildered with the difficulties of life, and inclined to smile at them now that she heard them driving away with a roar into the distance, Joan answered Mrs. Denby's questions.

"We just sat on the ferry," she said, "and talked about things."

Mrs. Denby, who knew that she was truthful, was bound to believe her.

"You have thought you'd have been off to the States, haven't you?" she said. "But there, of course, they wouldn't like to turn him off! Well, I must say, it's a funny taste, sitting on Woolwich ferry!"

"I wouldn't mind sitting on Woolwich ferry if it was with someone else!" Joan said with a smile.

"Don't you like him, Joan?"

Joan shook her head, and her expression, her faintly puckered mouth, was so much like that of a little girl recollecting a dose of nasty medicine that Mrs. Denby was completely convinced.

"Well!" she said. "Perhaps it's all for the best!"

But though she was relieved at what she felt removed a danger to Joan from this acquaintance, she felt a little sorry for the man. A fine fellow he was, as lively and good a fellow as one could hope to meet, in spite of his riches.

CHAPTER X
TRIALS OF A MANNEQUIN

Next morning at the Salon Celeste everything went smoothly for Joan. She stood while a designer modelled a frock on her, and exhausting process which took three hours, but in which she was very interested, as this was the sort of work which she hoped one day to do herself.

Lovely lengths of gold lame were swathed and insinuated about her figure, and moulded into cunning folds. She could watch the fascinating progress of the work in the great mirror in front of which she was standing. At the sides and back were other mirrors reflecting the gown from every angle.

At one period of the proceedings Joan became so interested that after the designer, a temperamental-looking Frenchwoman of noble birth, had tried and failed to achieve the required effect at the bottom of the skirt, Joan impulsively pointed out how it could be done.

She could have bitten out her tongue as soon as she had done it, for she knew that she had no business to speak, and the designer, the Comtesse Loti, looked extremely put out.

"Oh dear!" thought Joan. "What have I done?"

But after trying in other ways for a moment or two, the Comtesse Loti adjusted the material as Joan suggested with the desired effect.

Amidst the acknowledged Joan's good sense by a nod of the head and a smile, which made Joan glow with pleasure where before she had been cold with dismay.

She went to her luncheon feeling pleased with herself, but an uneasy expectation as she walked along the streets, her eyes open all the time for the appearance of a striking figure or a familiar car.

No Words are Found

Mary Constance Fowler in Spirit

Never to step upon the fragrant shore

The far eye follows as the vessel drifts,

To have known what lies there, little more

Than birds know further than the plumed life.

Only in loving may the heart know love

Their countless words, who sing, are mourning tales

Of dim-remembered dreams, where shadows move.

Unknown to day; and daylight telling fails!

Yes, spell out color in a blind man's hand,

An for the deaf turn color into sound;

Do these. There are no words, though they are said,

To tell love to the loveless. None are found.

And to be loved, not loving, is but to know

The sun is heat upon the lids, not light.

Therefore the smile is secret, the tongue is slow

And falters, seeking words to translate night.

Puts A Red Ring

Around The 13th

Winnipeg.—Fred Wise put a red ring around the 13th on his calendar, after he was handed $62 of "found" money at the police station. In fact, two Friday the 13ths got the red insignia. He found the money on March 13 last and turned it in to the police station. Nobody claimed it and now he has received it back.

In Wrong Pew

A minister consented to preach during his vacation in the country at an Episcopal church. When he arrived at the church on Sunday morning the sexton welcomed him by saying: "Do you wish to wear a scepter, sir?"

"Brother," replied the minister, "I am a Methodist. What do I know about scepters? All I know is about deficits."

THE WORLD'S SIXTH POULTRY CONGRESS

The preliminary announcement of the World's Poultry Congress which meets in Berlin next year has just been published. Congress sessions will be held in the "Opera Kroll" and will be officially opened on July 24th by Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

During the Congress the afternoon will be devoted to excursions to places of interest within the city of Berlin and outside. At the close of the Congress the delegates will attend the opening ceremonies of the Olympic Games and then take a week's tour through rural Germany, including a trip down the Rhine. A six weeks' trip is being arranged for Canadians when France, Switzerland and Belgium also will be visited on the Continent, and a few days in England on the way home.

So far the following countries have definitely decided to participate: Canada, Argentina, Australia, China, Czechoslovakia, Great Britain, Ecuador, Estonia, Haiti, Holland, Hungary, Italy, Mexico, Norway, Southern Rhodesia, Sweden, Switzerland and the United States.

Improving Poor Pasture Fields

Both grass and soil from pastures that have been grazed for a number of years without manure or phosphate applications will show a deficiency of phosphorus. Even if most of the droppings of grazing animals are returned to the pasture there is a net loss of phosphorus in the production of live stock and their products. This continued removal of phosphorus, never very abundant in the soil, soon becomes a limiting factor in the growth of desirable pasture crops, particularly the legumes. The failure of legumes, and particularly white clover, due to phosphorus deficiency, contributes further to the thinning of the grasses dependent upon the legumes for nitrogen.

Superphosphate (acid phosphate) is the first fertilizer material to use and the one most likely to pay through stimulation of both legumes and grasses. Application of 300 to 500 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate per acre or its equivalent is recommended and should last from three to five years.

Commercial nitrogen in addition to superphosphate, applied at the rate of 150 to 200 pounds per acre as soon as growth starts in the Spring, will advance grazing from one to two weeks. To avoid burning the tender leaves, apply when the pasture is dry.

Under conditions where very few desirable pasture plants remain it may be better to plow, fertilize, and reseed the land with an adapted pasture mixture than to depend upon fertilizer alone for rejuvenation.

ANECDOTES

This story of Mark Twain and the old lady in the Pullman should not be let die—says Cyril Clemens (in "Mark Twain Wit and Wisdom," a splendid collection of 154 stories and anecdotes about the famous humorist who was born one hundred years ago, come November 30 next):

Exhausted to the point of extinction by a very full day in Chicago, Mark boarded the night train for New York and retired to his berth at once for (as he fondly thought) a long night of blissful repose; but just as he was slipping over the border-line between waking and sleeping he heard an old lady's voice wistfully soliloquizing and telling herself how thirsty she was, with the regularity and persistence of the ticking of a clock.

"Oh, I am so thirsty!"

At last, unable to bear the nuisance any longer, Mark got up in his nightclothes and groped his way the length of the cold, dark car to where the drinking water was kept. Filling a glass, he carried it back to the elderly victim of loquacity and thirst. This good deed done and a payment in heart-felt thanks from the old lady duly pocketed, Mark got back into his berth and pulling the blankets up over his head with a deep sigh of relief and content snuggled down to sleep. But just as the sandman was bending over him a now all-too-familiar and accursed voice began to exclaim and kept it up at minute intervals the rest of the night:

"Oh, I was so thirsty!"

And here is Irvin S. Cobb's contribution to Mr. Clemens' collection: A young reporter called one morning as the great humorist lay reading and amusing in bed, and announced that he would like his life-story for his newspaper. Mark Twain took a draw on his pipe and commenced:

"Well, in the days of King George the Third when I was a young man I used to . . ."

"Pardon me, right there," interrupted the reporter. "I know that you are not a spring chicken, but how could you possibly have been living during the time of George the Third?"

"Fine, young man," retorted Mark, smilingly offering the young man a cigar. "I heartily congratulate you. You are the first and only reporter I have ever met in my whole life who corrected a mistake before it appeared in print."

By the way, Cyril Clemens is president of the International Mark Twain Society and a relative of the beloved humorist whose real name was, of course, Samuel L. Clemens.

Although John Philip Sousa earned a lot of money from his musical compositions, he said the publication rights of the famous "Washington Post" march—of which millions of copies have been sold—for a mere $35.

"I had no adequate idea of the value of my composition," he explained, "and sold the 'Washington Post' and several others for $35 apiece, and I was also to furnish three arrangements, one for piano, one for orchestra, and one for band!"

Sousa once had an amusing experience during a visit to Venice with his wife, where they had the delight of hearing Castiglioni's band play "The Washington Post."

He relates it in his memoirs, "Marching Along." At the close of the piece Mr. and Mrs. Sousa entered a music store near the bandstand and inquired for the piece the band had just played. A clerk went over to the bandstand and on his return handed out an Italian edition of "The Washington Post," by Giovanni Filippo Sousa.

He was much impressed, and after examining it, said to the clerk:

"Who is this Giovanni Filippo Sousa?"

"Oh, he is one of our most famous Italian composers."

"Indeed! I am very interested to hear it. Is he as famous as Verdi?"

"Well, perhaps not quite as famous as Verdi; he is young yet, you see."

"Have you ever seen him?"

"I do not remember, Signor."

At that point Sousa turned to his wife and said to the clerk:

"Then let me introduce you to his wife: This is Signora Sousa!"

And Mrs. Sousa, in turn, observed:

"Permit me to introduce my husband, Signor Giovanni Filippo Sousa the composer of 'The Washington Post!'"

There was much explanation and laughter and then the clerk nobly offered to charge Sousa only the wholesale price for a pirated copy of his own march!

Your Handwriting Tells Your Real Character!

By GEOFFREY ST. CLAIR
(Graphologist)
All Rights Reserved.

Recently I seem to have been receiving more letters than usual asking whether I can tell just when marriage might be expected. I would like to be able to answer questions of this kind, but it is quite outside the scope of my work. Questions having to do with fortune-telling are entirely beyond my sphere of influence or advice.

If you ask me to tell you what kind of disposition you have, or your boy friend or girl friend—then I can help you there. Graphology also shows whether a writer is reserved and sensitive, or spontaneous and ardent; greedy and selfish or kindhearted and generous; broadminded and tolerant or narrow-minded and partial; refined and cultured or purely physical-minded and material, and in fact it will reveal the characteristics that cause you to act in the way that you do.

Graphology, allied to psychology, plus a smattering of common sense and some knowledge of human nature, will help you immensely in solving the problems that daily confront so many of us.

But it will NOT tell your fortune, nor is it able to pierce the veil that hides Tomorrow from Today. It is based on scientific foundations, and whilst we do not claim infallibility for it, no I myself claim that all the deductions I make are entirely beyond criticism, at the same time there can be no doubt that it is a tremendous power for good, and a power, moreover, that most people cannot afford to ignore, if they are anxious to make the most of themselves. I have evidence in the form of hundreds of letters that express the gratitude of the writers for helpful advice and guidance. And what has helped so many others, has, I suggest, a message for you, too, if you see it in the right way.

This might also be an opportune time for me to reiterate once more that the advice I give in cases of personal problems is not necessarily final and arbitrary. I often have letters from readers of my articles or listeners-in to my radio broadcasts, telling me definitely that they will do whatever I advise. In some cases this has to do with a choice between two men for a suitable husband for a girl who writes me, and it is a tremendous responsibility to have to shoulder. I am not afraid to give advice when it is asked for or appears to me necessary, but I would like to say that any advice I give is rendered with a view to giving you a new point of view on your problems. If you ponder over it and use it as a basis for finding out the truth for yourself, then the advice will have served its true purpose.

Can Mr. St. Clair give you a new slant on your own character? Perhaps he can reveal some unusual angles about your friends, too. Send specimens of the writing you would like analysed, stating age in each case. Enclose 10c coin for each specimen, and send with 3c stamped addressed envelope, to: Geoffrey St. Clair, Room 421, 73 Adelaide Street West, Toronto, Ont. Your letter will be replied to as quickly as is possible in view of the volume of mail that is continually arriving. And your letter will be strictly confidential.

FARM ACREAGE IN GREAT BRITAIN

Occupied Agricultural Land In England and Wales 30,370,000 Acres.

The total area of agricultural land occupied in England and Wales in June, 1935, was 30,359,000 acres, compared with 30,454,000 acres in 1934, a reduction of 94,000 acres or 0.3 per cent, according to a report just issued by the British Ministry of Agriculture. The area returned as under crops and grass was 24,984,000 acres, a decrease of 82,000 acres or 0.3 per cent. Contrary to the general trend in recent years, the total area of rough grazings at 5,422,000 acres showed a small decrease of 2,000 acres compared with the previous year. For the first time since 1918 the steady decline in the arable area has been arrested and there was an increase upon the area in 1934 of 144,000 acres (1.6 per cent.) to 9,394,000 acres; the total arable area is now rather larger than 1932. This increase was due almost entirely to the expansion in the area under clover and rotation grasses. On the other hand the area actually under crops, excluding clover and rotation grasses, at 6,775,000 acres showed a decline of 62,000 acres or 0.9 per cent. in 1934. A further substantial reduction of 15.9 per cent. to 286,000 acres occurred in the area of bare fallow. This was the lowest figure returned under bare fallow for several years. For the second year in succession there was a reduction in the area of permanent grass amounting to 227,000 acres, representing 1.4 per cent. the acreage under permanent grass of 15,554,000 acres being very little more than in 1930.

The total area under cereals declined by 41,300 acres or 1 per cent. to 4,994,000 acres, increases in wheat, oats and rye being more than counter-balanced by a substantial reduction in the acreage of barley and a smaller decrease in the area under corn. A reduction in the area under roots, a small increase in the acreage under turnips and swedes. After a substantial increase in the previous year the sugar beet acreage in 1935 showed a moderate decline. There was a small decline in the area under the four principal vegetables, but a further net increase in the acreage devoted to fruit. The acreage of hops was unchanged.

The Love of Nature

You ask why I write of Nature,
Of bird and blossom and bee;
You ask why the ways of the wild-wood

Bring joy to the heart of me—
And why I write not of the city
Of its life and its busy throng,
And why the joys of the country
Are luring and deep and strong.

I once was a child of the wildwood,
As free as the birds that fly,
As free as white clouds that wander
Afair in the azure sky;

The flowers of early springtime,
The whispers of forest: pine,
The call of the wind from the hilltop
Were pleasure that all were mine.

The robin securely nesting
On a beam in the old log-shed,
The swallows from homes on the barn eaves
Showing their shining heads.

Where friends and dear companions
To the little country child,
Whose spirit was shy, like the bird-ling's

That flew through the forest wild,
And when the summer waning
Brought autumn's tender days,
When fields and woods auring
Were bathed in yellow haze.

The painted leaves, slow drifting
To earth in the sunlight gleams,
The purple haze on the hilltops
Filled life with the joy of dreams.

So must I write of Nature,
So must I sing her praise,
With her I walked and wandered
In the freedom of childhood days.

And in the picture before me
Of tree and blossoming sod,
Of lake and stream and hill top
I can see the hand of God.

—H. D. A.

Inattention to Spoken Word A Bad Habit

Molly, seventeen, goes to the telephone. Someone announces herself and Molly gets it like a shot. "Oh, Bill, I thought it was you. What are you doing?" "Huh?" says Molly. Bill repeats it. Then he says, "What are you doing?" "Huh?" says Molly again. Bill says "What are you doing?" Molly says, "Oh nothing. Just reading."

Bill asks Molly what she was reading. She says "Huh?" again, and Bill tries hard to remember that Molly's curls are golden and her eyes very blue. After a few dozen "huh's" he is vaguely irritated although he is only subconsciously aware of her stupid habit.

HABIT ESCAPES DETECTION

She hears perfectly well the first time but won't rouse her attention to the sticking point and lets the idea soak in by absorption. It is the latest and most cleverly trick in the world, this habit of putting all the work on another. If Bill had said he had been trying to find out the difference between lechthology and entomology, Molly would have been justified perhaps in asking for a repetition, but it is the case with sticky-minded that nothing at all soaks in at the first telling; easy or difficult it's all the same.

Children pick up this habit so easily that a mother, or even a teacher, may let it go unnoticed. They patiently repeat every sentence they utter. This mental lethargy is almost as blameworthy as the other.

At the moment we have in mind two families in whose homes no right-minded person could stay completely sane for twenty-four hours. Each member of the family has to repeat whatever he says twice. Each one asks to be told over again. A day is a succession of echoes that tell a tale of inattention if not actual stupidity.

CONCENTRATION IS DIFFERENT

"Open the window," "one," means just that. Jane should not be answered when she says, "What did you say?" when "one" has heard perfectly well. "Who is at the door, Billy," or "Where is the paper?" should "register" at once. Why repeat it?

It is true that children are often deeply engrossed with something and actually did not hear. True, too, that we rudely interrupt others deep in a story or a game by some unimportant remark that could wait. But this is different from the vacuum of inexcusable "rigor mortis" of the brain. Nothing is more restful to the eavesdropper than to hear people converse with ears ajar and with on the trigger. Children need to be taught both. Whether dumb or not, the mentality-lazy child will certainly earn the name if he does not "snap out of it," and act and look intelligent when spoken to. Molly might actually be a smart girl. But if so she is keeping it a good secret.

Disappointed!

Fire And Forgetfulness Dashed Hopes of Brides-To-Be

Fire and forgetfulness dashed the hopes of two Manchester brides-to-be. For Ellen Corrigan, it was a case of disappointment at the last minute.

With her bridegroom-to-be, Harold Mothershead, she went to St. James' Church, to be married.

The vicar asked for the bridegroom's certificate of the banns. Mr. Mothershead could not produce it.

A telephone call to the vicar of the parish in which the bridegroom lived was unsuccessful, and the best man dashed across the city to clear up the mystery of the missing certificate.

When he returned he told the bride that Mr. Mothershead had forgotten to publish the banns in his own parish.

With tears in her eyes the bride went back home. She will be married by special licence.

The other bride-to-be, Mary Taylor, was to have been married soon.

But fire destroyed her bridesmaids' dresses, her wedding shoes, the groom's suit and the furniture for their new home.

The fire was at the home of her fiancé, Alfred George Denton, in Blackley.

Mr. Denton helped to fight the flames. The loss will probably mean a postponement of the wedding.

THE MEN WHO LEAD

Today we have two classes of men, those who lead and those who follow.

It is a sad thing that the world is so full of men who believe in personal civic righteousness. It has seen men of the latter type who, in the past despite conquerors and persecutors, have led the world and the same will be true in the future. —Dan Beard, U.S. Boy Scout Commissioner.

BEAMSVILLE

Ex-Mayor Stewart of Toronto is announced as the chief speaker for the Conservative candidate, N. J. M. Lockhart, in the community hall on October 8. Hon. Harry Stevens is billed for the same hall on October 10.

The funeral of the Roy Vaughn, of Louth township, was held at the Jordan Station United church on Sunday afternoon, interment being in the Oak Lawn cemetery there.

William Merritt of the Lakeshore Road reported to County Constable Tufford that thieves had broken into his barn on Wednesday night and stole tools as well as the gasoline from his tractor and a bucket to carry the gasoline in. Later the pall was found at the bottom of the bank at the lake front.

Beamsville reverted to Standard Time again on Saturday night at 12.00 p.m.

Donald Sinclair underwent an operation for the removal of his tonsils. Bill Mackie returned home for the weekend from Toronto to visit the annual Beamsville fair.

Police of Highway No. 8 have begun a drive on overloaded fruit trucks. In two nights at the Stoney Creek Scale the check up revealed that no fewer than 26 trucks were overweight.

Joseph Denemill, 39 Westchester avenue, St. Catharines, was lodged in Lincoln county jail last week on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated, after striking a car driven by Harry Randall of Toronto, on the Sixteen hill. A companion of Denemill is alleged to have deserted the scene of the accident and has not been found. Both cars involved in the accident were badly wrecked. Provincial Constable D. H. Darby of Beamsville, made the arrest.

Thieves who broke into the office of the Beamsville Co-operative Growers at the shipping station on Saturday night, gained little for their pains. It is understood that only about $3.00 in cash and a few stamps were taken. An attempt was made to open the safe. County Constable George Seymour is investigating.

Frank J. Thomson learned that the thieves who raided his store early Sunday morning had been captured. The Toronto police department telephoned to Mr. Thomson last week to ask him to whom he had sold the radio with the serial number which they quoted, and after learning that the radio had been stolen the police at once arrested the two men that they had in their custody.

The men had in their possession when arrested a high-powered repeating rifle, but it is not known whether or not they had this when they raided the store. Besides the radio the men stole $50 in cash and about $25 worth of cigarettes. Isaac Robble brought the men from Toronto to stand trial.

Stewart Pinbow, a member of the prize winning Beamsville Band, has reported to police that his clarinet was stolen from the Town Hall on Monday night last. Mr. Pinbow forgot the instrument after band practice on Monday night and when he returned for it on Tuesday morning the instrument was gone. The musician values his clarinet at $50.

STONEY CREEK

Several more constables have been sworn in and are on duty in Saltfleet township guarding the orchards and vineyards.

A pleasing and instructive address was given Friday night to the members of the fire brigade by Captain J. O'Connor, of the Hamilton department. He was particularly pleased with the discipline and co-operation of the unit, something that he declared, was absolutely essential in every fire brigade.

The Well Babies' clinic that has been closed during the summer months will reopen on Monday, October 7, in the village council room.

The field day of the students of the Saltfleet high school was a successful success. The athletic contests were keen and well presented. A Brown championship with 78 points. The winners in the other boys' divisions were: Intermediate, A. Bell, 48 points; Junior H. Downton, 32 points; Junior E. Leo Reiser, 61 points.

Miss F. Stevens won the senior girls' championship with 4 points. Miss C. Reiser was first in the intermediate with 34. Miss Barrett is the champion juvenile with 44 points.

SMITHVILLE

The Bethel church, five miles west of the village, which has been closed for two years, has been reopened. John Harcourt, a farm hand, who lives two miles east of this village, while proceeding east on the Twenty road at the intersection of the 20 Highway near St. Anna Wednesday crashed into the side of an auto owned by E. C. Lamber of Port Colborne being driven by Lorne Lambert and accompanied by his mother, Mrs. E. C. Lambert, and a fellow student, Edward Wina. The two youths were en route to Queen's University, Kingston.

The car was badly wrecked. The occupants escaped injury except Mrs. Lambert, who suffered a scalp wound and shock. Harcourt's car was slightly damaged.

WINONA

The annual harvest home services were held in Saint John's church on Sunday. Rev. T. N. Lowe officiated at the morning services at 11.15. The choir from the Church of the Good Shepherd assisted the regular choir in special music at the morning service, and Rev. Mr. Maunsell, of Beamsville, officiated at the evening service at 7.15.

Miss Margaret Kelson had the misfortune to sprain her ankle when she slipped off the steps at her home.

AWAY BACK WHEN

Flett did all the work, cutting the sods from the roadside on Kerman avenue. These sods were laid as tightly together as possible and many, many hours of trimming and rolling with a huge roller were put in before the greens were ready for play.

On opening day a great concourse of people gathered to see the new game. Several residents of Grimsby Park and members of bowling clubs in Toronto were present and showed the local men how the game should be played. One of those visiting players was John Pearson, who was also a visitor at the fruit tournament. Some years later Mr. Flett constructed a green for the Grimsby Park Bowlers. It was laid out on the east side of the driveway just at the entrance to the park.

The second green laid out in Grimsby was that of Capt. W. F. Gibson who had one at the corner of Main and Robinson streets where David Allen's home now is. Then later on A. G. Pettit had a crease at the corner of Main street and Kerman avenue. Then came a crease adjoining the Parish Hall where the high school is. At one time there were large greens in the rear of what is now the Mansel Apartments, then came the greens at the Methodist church on Depot street and in later years the greens now in use in the rear of the Grimsby Club property.

 drew's Presbyterian church. The pallbearers were representatives of the city force, the provincial police and the county constabulary in the following order: Thomas Georges, Charles Hammond, Charles Woods, Isaac Robble, Joseph Parnell, George Seymour. Others in attendance from the county and provincial force and the county judiciary were: Inspector Chris. Eyrie, Niagara Falls, Chief of A. Demill, Grimsby; Constable J. Wentworth, Grimsby; Chief of Police D. Herold, Toronto; ex-Chief of Police Greene, St. Catharines; Magistrate James Campbell as a County Crown Attorney, Lancaster. Also Mayor N. J. M. Lockhart, St. Catharines.

The Beamsville fire department turned out in full force and marched in the funeral procession, as did the reeve and members of the council. The floral tributes were many, coming from the local municipal bodies and the county and police bodies. The cortege was a large and representative one, showing the esteem in which the dead officer was held.

HEAVY YIELD OF GRAPES

Harry Sturck of Vinemount is now cutting his Concord grapes and is harvesting an average of three and a half tons per acre from his 50-acre vineyard. This is considered exceptionally good as the majority of growers in a number of cases have only about half a crop owing to the dry weather throughout the summer.

"At no time has it stated it would abolish them. What it does propose to abolish are extravagant increases in the tariff generally and the unwarranted extra taxes on almost every line of imports as imposed by the present administration which have the effect of strangling trade, exploiting consumers and robbing railways of business."

The above references to reasonable tariffs were made by Mr. Coombs in response to recent statements of Hon. J. D. Chaplin, it being claimed Mr. Coombs would not be able to do anything that would affect his party which was allegedly not favorable to reasonable tariffs.

References were made to high tariffs and nuisance taxes. The intention of the Liberal party, he declared, was to abolish unwarranted taxes, alluding to the raising of sales tax from 1 to 6 per cent. by present government, the tax on lower incomes, the tax on sugar and the tax on cheques while it was probable that the Liberals could reduce postage to penny postage.

Mr. Coombs referred to the tearing down of Liberal election posters bearing his pictures. He said they had secured the numbers of the cars the occupants of which were pulling down the signs and they were known. He, however, had declined to reveal the names.

As to the Liberal party not helping the fruit grower he said he saw something funny at St. David's. There was displayed a banner with the words "Vote Bennett and Save the Fruit Crop" running down to a fruit shed on which was a sign "Peaches ten cents a basket".

Mr. Coombs said he could not see that Stevens was sincere. Bennett and Stevens had been elected on the same platform and he was in the cabinet for four years. He must have known that the fiscal system was all wrong then. He alluded to the act to Investigate Combines brought in by Mr. King and the stand taken by Mr. Stevens at that time who opposed it, contrasting his stand then with that of the present time.

Mr. J. J. Bench in course of a brief address alluded to Mr. Stevens' connection with the Manufacturers' Finance Corporation which company had gone into the hands of a receiver. He said he should not have lent his name to that company unless he was satisfied that it was all right. He had shown neglect and carelessness in his association with the company, the failure of which had meant hardship and loss to many people.

The concluding speaker, Mr. Sampson, was introduced by Mr. Lothian. Mr. Sampson after a reference to the promises of Hon. Mr. Bennett to do away with unemployment, and stimulate trade said that his policies had strangled trade instead of promoting it resulting in increased unemployment. He characterized Mr. Bennett as the capitalistic product of the war and Mr. Stevens as the by-product.

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

GRIMSBY BRANCH — L. H. LEACH, Manager

He alluded to Mr. Stevens as a "Jack in the Box" and as one who was following in the footsteps of Hitler, the German Dictator who he also began his career by attacking capitalists and chain stores. Hitler had also set out to cure unemployment conditions as did Mr. Stevens. He claimed that Stevens condoned everything Bennett did. The Reconstruction Party must destroy to rebuild.
 Mr. Sampson referred to Denton Scott.
